

You've entered a somewhat seedy bar, full of disreputable characters and bad clichés. As you look around, you see people engaged in all manner of gambling. Off in the corner, you see someone you recognize as Gerald Watson, who has occasionally worked with Dr. Jones in the past. He is busily engaged in a game of dominoes. You wander up to take a look, and this is what the game looks like. Can you help Gerald find his next move?

Decide quickly... the answer is in sight!
