

You're investigating a church and are admiring the intricate stained glass windows when you notice the pattern of colors the light makes on the floor...

